Cyberbullying Policy

Statement of Intent

Talbot House Children Charity understands that everyone in the school community deserves to learn and teach in a supportive and caring environment, without fear of bullying or harassment.

Communication technology plays an increasingly large and important role in the school curriculum. As a result, it is important to acknowledge that, sometimes, new technologies can be used for unpleasant or illegal purposes.

We recognise the existence of cyberbullying and the severity of the issue.

The school is committed to:

- Educating pupils, staff, and parents about cyberbullying and its consequences.
- Providing a productive and healthy learning environment.
- Providing a robust policy in order to prevent and, if necessary, deal with any cyberbullying, should it arise at school or within the school community.
- Developing and improving the policies and procedures around cyberbullying through regular evaluation and review.
- Providing a strong anti-bullying policy and acting upon it wherever bullying arises.

Cyberbullying Policy

- Providing training to all staff so that they feel confident identifying pupils at risk of being cyberbullied and know how to make referrals when a pupil is at risk.

- Ensuring all pupils are taught about cyberbullying and how they should report a concern.

All members of staff are responsible for identifying signs of cyberbullying and staying informed about the technologies that pupils commonly use. Teachers are responsible for ensuring that issues surrounding cyberbullying are explored in the curriculum and pupils are aware of how to respect others.

3. What is Cyberbullying?

For the purpose of this policy, 'bullying' is an act which is based on unequal power relations, real or perceived. It will usually be repeated and be difficult to defend against and is intended to hurt the recipient emotionally and/or physically. It can manifest verbally, in writing or images, and can be done physically, financially (including damage to property) or through social isolation. Verbal bullying is the most common form, especially within schools. For the purpose of this policy, 'cyberbullying' includes sending or posting harmful or upsetting text, images or other messages using the internet, mobile phones or other ICT for the purpose of bullying.

3.1 Cyberbullying can take many forms and can go even further than face-to-face bullying by invading personal space and home life, and can target more than one person. It can also take place inside school, within the wider community, at home or when travelling. It can sometimes draw bystanders into being accessories. Cyberbullying can include the following:

- Threatening, intimidating or upsetting text messages.
- Threatening or embarrassing pictures and video clips sent via mobile phone cameras.
- Disclosure of private sexual photographs or videos with the intent to cause distress.
- Silent or abusive phone calls or using the victim's phone to harass others, to make them think the victim is responsible.
- Threatening or bullying emails, possibly sent using a pseudonym or someone else's name.
- Menacing or upsetting responses to someone in a chatroom.
- Unpleasant messages sent via instant messaging.
- Unpleasant or defamatory information posted to blogs, personal websites and social and social networking sites, e.g. Facebook.

NB. The above list is not exhaustive, and cyberbullying may take other forms.

All cases of cyberbullying are considered to be as serious as any other form of bullying. Cyberbullying issues are dealt with in an appropriate manner dependent on the severity and frequency of the issue, in accordance with the school's Anti-Bullying Policy: Pupils.

Cyberbullying Policy

4. Legal Issues

- Cyberbullying is generally criminal in character. It is unlawful to disseminate defamatory information in any media, including via websites.
- Section 127 of the Communications Act 2003 makes it an offence to send, by public means of a public electronic communications network, a message or other matter that is grossly offensive, or one of an indecent, obscene or menacing character.
- In addition, the Protection from Harassment Act 1997 makes it an offence to knowingly pursue any course of conduct amounting to harassment.

5. Preventing Cyberbullying

- The school recognises that both staff and pupils may experience cyberbullying and will commit to preventing any instances that may occur by creating a learning and teaching environment which is free from harassment and bullying.
- Staff, pupils and parents will be regularly educated about cyberbullying and the importance of staying safe online.
- Teachers will discuss cyberbullying as part of the curriculum and diversity, difference and respect for others will be promoted and celebrated through various lessons.
- Pupils will be educated about the importance of reporting instances of cyberbullying and will be fully informed of who they should report any concerns to.
- The school will provide opportunities to extend friendship groups, and interactive skills through the enrichment program, house groups and creative curriculum days.
- Staff will be regularly educated about the signs of cyberbullying in order to promote early identification and intervention.
- It is made clear in staff briefings and safeguarding CPD that members of staff should not have contact with current pupils on social networking sites (specifically, not befriending pupils on Facebook or other social media platforms). In addition, staff are discouraged from having past pupils as friends.
- The delivery of PSHE is important and will include discussing keeping personal information safe and the appropriate use of the internet. In addition, pupils will be educated about e-safety through projects in other subjects.
- Outside the curriculum, pupils will discuss in house groups, sessions about e-safety and cyberbullying, as well as Anti-Bullying week.
- Pupils will have a voice through the school council to ensure they are fully engaged and involved in evaluating and improving policy and procedures.

7. Procedures for Dealing with Cyberbullying

All issues of cyberbullying should be reported according to the procedures outlined in the Anti-Bullying policy: Pupils.

- If staff are concerned that a pupil might be at risk of cyberbullying, they will report this to a DSL/DDSL as soon as possible.
- All pupils will be informed that they can disclose cyberbullying concerns about themselves or others to any member of staff. Staff will not promise confidentiality and will inform a DSL/DDSL of the disclosure as soon as possible.
- Responses to cyberbullying incidents, including the necessary sanctions, will be dealt with in accordance with the school's Anti-Bullying Policy: Pupils.

7.1 A cyberbullying incident might include features different to other forms of bullying, prompting a particular response. Significant differences may include the following:

- Impact: possible extensive scale and scope.
- Location: the anytime and anywhere nature of cyberbullying.
- Anonymity: the person being bullied might not know who the perpetrator is.
- Motivation: the perpetrator might not realise that their actions are bullying.
- Evidence: the subject of the bullying may have evidence of what has happened.

- The school understands that all pupils, particularly younger children, may not be aware of their actions and as such, may not mean to intentionally cyberbully another pupil.
- The Head Teacher will take into account the nature of the cyberbullying incident and the way in which it has been conducted, including if it is evident that it was intentional or if the pupil's age and knowledge of cyberbullying is a contributing factor to the incident, when deciding on the appropriate sanction.
- If necessary, the Head Teacher may decide to involve the police in an appropriate response to the cyberbullying incident.
- If necessary, the Head Teacher will request removal of internet access.

- Emotional support and reassurance from the school care team.
- Reassurance that it was the right to report the incident and that appropriate actions will be taken.

9. Investigation and Legal Powers

The nature of any investigation will depend on the circumstances. It may include the following:

- Preserving evidence, for example, by saving or printing (e.g. phone messages, texts, emails and website pages).
- Efforts to identify the perpetrator, which may include looking at the media, systems and sites used; however, members of staff do not have the authority to search the contents of a phone unless the device has been seized in a lawful 'without consent' search and is prohibited by the school rules, or is suspected of being, or likely to be, used to commit an offence or cause personal injury or damage to property.

Cyberbullying Policy

- Identifying and questioning witnesses.
- Requesting that a pupil reveals a message or other phone content or confiscating a phone.
- Legal action, e.g. where private sexual videos or images of an individual under 16 years old are disclosed with the intent to cause distress.

10. Working with the Perpetrator

How the school will work with the perpetrator and any sanctions given will be determined on an individual basis in accordance with the Anti-Bullying Policy: Pupils, with the intention of:
